

How are you developing your self belief skills?

We're not all naturally confident. The good news is that we can grow our personal confidence over time. Self belief is about learning how to recognise your strengths, trying new things, allowing yourself to learn and grow from mistakes, and approaching small and big challenges in life with a positive attitude to help you always look for a healthy and useful way forward, even when you're out of your comfort zone.

youthemployment.org.uk/young-professional-training/

Sign up for free Young Professional training to grow your skills.