

Are you

16-24

and currently on a work experience
placement, volunteering,
internship, traineeship
or apprenticeship?

Sharing your story could help other young people

How can I help?

By sharing how you found your work experience placement and what it was like, you'll be inspiring other people who aren't sure where to start. Share your story using the #WEcan and signpost to our Tumblr hub.

Get involved!

Some ideas for how you can get involved but feel free to freestyle ;)

On Wednesday 12 August (launch day)

- Follow us at @WEcan – say hi and tell us where your placement is or where your dream placement would be.
- Share your #WEcan ‘workies’ (which is a selfie with your workmates, obviously!) on Twitter or Instagram.
- Share the top 3 things you learned on a placement (work experience taught me...) via Twitter or Facebook and signpost to our Tumblr hub.
- Share your top tips for finding work experience on Twitter using #WEcan and signpost to our Tumblr hub.
- Retweet a work experience story using #WEcan

On Thursday 13 August

- Tweet and tell us where you got your very first work experience for Thowback Thursday #TBT with #WEcan and signpost to our Tumblr hub.
- It's A-level results day! Tweet and tell us what helped you decide what to do next when you got your results with #WEcan and signpost to our Tumblr hub.

On Friday 14 August

- Signpost to our Tumblr hub and give us a Follow Friday #FF

Ongoing

- Could you write a blog or make a video talking about your experiences? Do you have any top tips other young people will find useful? You can submit to us directly on Tumblr. You could be published and feature on the site as a named author.
